Q How should I prepare for my first meeting with my personal injury lawyer?

A If you have been injured in an accident caused by negligence of others, you may have a case for compensation. After you have received the necessary medical attention, your first call should be to Kelly Greenway Bruce to set up a meeting with one of our experienced personal injury lawyers.

For your first meeting, bring any information you have about the accident including details about how the accident occurred, any police information including reports as well as insurance particulars for yourself and the other person or persons involved in the accident.

We will need to know about the nature of your injury, including any pre-accident health issues. Bring any receipts for medical care you have incurred and any information given to you by the hospital, your doctor and or your rehabilitation facility regarding your injuries and necessary treatment. It is important to have the names and contact information of the doctors as well as the dates that you received medical attention.

If there are any witnesses to your accident, bring their contact information and any other information you have about them including what they may have seen.

Call Kelly Greenway Bruce today for a free consultation as early action is necessary to allow timely investigation and to ensure proper development of your case. Let us support and fight for you – from the first meeting until a settlement is reached.
