Q If I am involved in a motor vehicle accident, do I have the right to choose my own case manager and treatment providers or must I accept those assigned by the insurance company?

A Yes, you are entitled to choose your own case manager and treatment providers following a motor vehicle accident. It's important to deal with people you feel confident are looking out for your best interests in treatment and ongoing care.

If you were injured in a car accident, you should speak to a personal injury lawyer to ensure you receive the accident benefits to which you're entitled. Your lawyer will deal with your insurance company on your behalf.

Since 1956, the lawyers at Kelly Greenway Bruce have been helping clients make informed choices regarding their care and working closely with a wide range of treatment providers to advance your claim as fully as possible. These professionals will properly assess your injuries, determine an appropriate treatment plan and submit the application form for medical and rehabilitation expenses to your insurance company.

Kelly Greenway Bruce is committed to ensuring our clients receive the most complete treatment possible. If your insurance company denies your claim, we will diligently dispute the denial in an attempt to get you the treatment you need to rebuild your life.
