Q What are some of the things I should consider when hiring a lawyer?

A Choosing the right lawyer to assist you is a major decision that will impact the ultimate outcome of any legal matter you may be involved in.

You want a lawyer who practises extensively in the relevant area of law. You need to research your lawyer's qualifications. What sort of reputation do they have with previous clients, as well as other lawyers and judges in the community? What sort of results have they achieved in the past? Are they willing to take a matter to trial if necessary?

It is important that you have confidence in the legal firm you choose and that they understand the full extent of your issue and are willing and able to exercise damage control, consider cost and get the best final outcome for you.

Above all, you want a lawyer who is readily accessible. You need regular contact with your lawyer on an ongoing basis in order to effectively prepare and proceed with your case.
